

Down Under

NONONO

the moon light is shows i feel our walls are craking and were so close to fall i hear the night is calling out we are only what we feel and turn it into something real moonlight breaks the crack of dawn breaking us into seperate parts on the sunlight it show i feel our shadows fading and were so far from home i hear the morning calling out

we are only what we feel yerning for something real the moonlight breaks the crack of dawn tweaking us into different parts whats that sound i hear down under is it your heart is it just thunder

whats that sound i hear down under
is it your heart is it just thunder
is it your heart is it just thunder

we are only what we feel
and turn it into something real
moonlight breaks the crack of dawn
breaking us into seperate parts and we are only what we feel yerning for something real

the moonlight breaks the crack of dawn
tweaking us into different parts

whats that sound i hear down under