

Broken Bones

Nonpoint

You forget I got this far without you
I'm not the person that you think I am
The life I want to lead needs no approval
From someone who will never understand

You're forgetting my broken bones
Forgetting I'm not alone
Hard to stand alone
When this feels like home
In this crowd

Just because you lived a little longer
Doesn't mean your will is any stronger
You forget that all these scars remember
Everytime you say I need to change

You're forgetting my broken bones
Forgetting I'm not alone
Hard to stand alone
When this feels like home
In this crowd

The decisions that we make
To stand alone

You're forgetting my broken bones
Forgetting I'm not alone
Hard to stand alone
When this feels like home
In this crowd