Broken Bones

Nonpoint

You forget I got this far without you I'm not the person that you think I am The life I want to lead needs no approval From somone who will never understand

Youre forgetting my broken bones Forgetting im not alone Hard to stand alone When this feels like home In this crowd

Just because you lived a little longer Doesnt mean your will is any stronger You forget that all these scars remember Everytime you say I need to change

Youre forgetting my broken bones Forgetting im not alone Hard to stand alone When this feels like home In this crowd

The decisions that we make To stand alone

Youre forgetting my broken bones Forgetting im not alone Hard to stand alone When this feels like home In this crowd