A Fallen Star

Now there's no denying Veiled in grey no more The time has come to see You've already fallen too deep

To rise again, would never be the same Long gone, the days nightfall upon you

To rise, to fall, to waste away The blessed can find it all the same Not to see, not to wonder As all is torn asunder

Questions never asked, faces forever masked Your fate is to unfold, in places far below

A Fallen Star is what you are Forever scarred in heaven A Fallen Star is what you are And you have come so far

Norther