

Never really thought what you say is for real.
You never really wanted to hear what I feel.
Hear this song.

It's big in my mind, without being ashamed.
Seems impossible now, but I can do it again when you gone.

When you gone.

No, I never argued in my cage, now you see your words fanning my rage.
You'll be gone.

So many things I've never dared before.
Now I know I don't have to care anymore, when you gone.

When you gone.

Don't tell me your reasons, I don't wanna hear it.
Write it on a letter to make yourself clear when you gone. It's been so hard now it's easy to say, wasting my time longing for that day.

When you gone.

When you gone.