

Metamorphosis

Northlane

I've lived life drained, void of emotions. I've lived life drained, I will never become this again. I will rise over this. Smash through obstacles with a heart of gold and a mind of steel. Nothing will stand in my path, I've been consumed by my thoughts, I've become what I've always despised, the only way I can absolve myself is with your lies. I've been pushed to the edge where my mind knows no bounds, never again. My mind has released itself from this anguish and I will overcome this suffering I will be whole and I will overcome this suffering I will be whole once again. and I will become the answer to my own prayers, and I won't let you bring me down. I will remain! Nothing you say will tear this heart away from me!