

The Deadmines

Northlane

God has left this place a long time ago but I still remain here until the bitter end I will never give up this world enthralled by hatred which swarms and consumes this fragile society
And when you think I'm done I'll remain dead inside you I'll come back to haunt you, You're so torn.
I will rule this place
I'll burn it to the ground

I will rise from these ashes just to bring it all down again
Welcome to my wasteland!
In the end it wont mean anything
Your presence taints the air we breathe
You fucking hide behind your numbers you return our streets to sand you shall wither away where you stand Shall wither away
You will drown in what you've created
Your false gods wont help you now,
Your fears seep through the cracks in our walls
destroying you rats from the inside,
Your fears seep through the cracks in our walls,
destroying you rats from the inside
Out!
