

The Gauntlet

Nosferatu

You're where I dream;
we're not what could've been,
Living in tomorrow, died in yesterday,
Believe me when I say, there's no where I'd rather be,
I'm on my knees; you're where I pray.

I'm on the floor tonight, I've had it all,
When you're laying down the gauntlet, I love to watch you crawl

I'm on the floor tonight, I'll take it all,
As I'm laying down the gauntlet, will you catch me when I fall.

You're where I die, where I come alive,
Surround me in flowers, and kiss the past away.

I'm on the floor tonight, I've had it all,
When you're laying down the gauntlet, I love to watch you crawl

I'm on the floor tonight, I'll take it all,
As I'm laying down the gauntlet, will you catch me when I fall.

This is the end; thirteen's the only friend,
Until I wake up, you're up against the wall.
