

Nothing Earthly Save the Thrill

Novembers Doom

Fearless is the heart of he who divides the Gods
For I could never expose my heart to such madness
Can you hear it calling? Can you hear the sound?
The bell tolls once for every hour in my life

Each chime tells a new tale, tales of sorrow and pain
But when will it play the song of love?
Drowning in this sea of misery, I never lose hope
Can you see why I carry such a mountain of pain?
I never thought you could, I only hoped you would

How did you find me? It does not matter now
The only thing that exists is our fear
I can feel your pain inflicted by the ones who care not
And I promise to mend your broken heart...

An endless search to free my soul
This night I shall not fail
No man can escape this madness
I will find the last of the dogs
Imprisoned by their own black hearts
There is no escape from my tenacious grip

Look at me, stare into the eyes of your Messiah
It is I who decides who lives and who dies
On this night you shall witness my conquest
How dare you violate what belongs to me?
Now beg me for your life and watch as I laugh at your tears

Wake up my love, please don't cry for us
The pain has ended and we rest now on our cloud

Nothing can touch you here,
You are safe from the dogs of past
Our fear no longer haunts us,
We only exist among the flowers