

The Last Time

Novice

This isn't fair, you said that everything went wrong
Because of me, you don't see my heart..?
I couldn't pull the moon down from the sky when you asked me to
You said I stole your heart from you, well I'm giving it back right now
So that when you're gone there's nothing left of you and me
(I think going crazy)

This time I walk away, in time will be okay
I'm gonna see this though
(Gonna see this, see this through)
Something's will never change
The things you say should be locked away
Never see the light of day

So don't hold your breath for me
Cause I'm not coming back
I'll never sing for you again
You've dug your hole too deep to ever
Crawl back out again
Your tongue will make your grave tonight
(I've been going crazy)
This time I walk away, in time will be okay
I'm gonna see this through
(Gonna see this, see this through)
Something's will never change the things you say should be locked away
I don't think I can take this

And this is the last time I am writing you
And this is the last time I am writing you
And this is the last time I am writing you
And this is the last time I am writing you
