

Giants

Now, Now

If I believed in god I would not have done the things you've done

Because you were only half willing to follow the son

You take our homes but your framework doesn't hold

Against the feet of us giants

You've been alone and you're singing to the sun

Cause you know you're on your own and you're going home

Like an animal burying its bones

But leaving fingerprints on the walls inside my home

But if we're so different then why did we start this?

You take our homes but your framework doesn't hold

Against the feet of us giants

You've been alone and you're singing to the sun

Cause you know you're on your own and you're going home

You can hide it if you want to but everybody knows it's true

Buried everything you knew but they won't keep a thing from you
