Hear This

Number One Gun

And ill stay back as if you were never here that is exactly how I've wanted it to be A picture of the faces that were here Will be followed by the words of you right now

What a simple thing to waste What a silent thing to say You are going all the way All the way

You are the answer being heard From all the questions of right now And soon the battery will burn You are the one you are the one that will be found
