

Hesitating

Nural

Once everything's been said and done
I'm still out thinking you're the one
Your voice is staining through my head
Repeating yourself once again
This lack of trust we share
Is breaking me, breaking me down
Still not sure where the line is drawn

And don't be hesitating
When I need your reply the most

A desperate, worthless try
We go through this all the time
I'm hanging on to your every word
Do my opinions go unheard?
This lack of trust we share
Is breaking me, breaking me down
Still not sure where the line is drawn

And don't be hesitating
When I need your reply the most

Don't turn this all on me
I may be the enemy
Did the thought ever cross your mind
To leave all of this behind
This lack of trust we share
Is breaking me, breaking me down
Still not sure where the line is drawn

Once everything's been said and done
I'm left thinking that you're the one
It's too late, no turning back
Next time I'll think before I act
This lack of trust we share
Is breaking me, breaking me down
Still not sure where the line is drawn

And don't be hesitating
When I need your reply the most

Don't turn this all on me
I may be the enemy
Did the thought ever cross your mind
To leave all of this behind
This lack of trust we share
Is breaking me, breaking me down
Still not sure where the line is drawn

Of all my desperate tries
I had to make things right
And I take a deep breath
And sit back to reflect
I need a way out

And don't be hesitating
When I need your reply the most

Don't turn this all on me
I may be the enemy
Did the thought ever cross your mind
To leave all of this behind
This lack of trust we share
Is breaking me, breaking me down
Still not sure where the line is drawn

This lack of trust we share
Is breaking me, breaking me down
Still not sure where the line is drawn