Sign Of Life

A candle lights my way as I search for more than a common face But slowly my hope fades along with this dying flame

For all I know we've only just begun but where do we begin 'Cause I find you here left for dead so could you show a sign o f life A sign of life

Show a sign of life cause I won't carry your dead weight alone Despite the light deprived I carry on into the unknown

For all I know we've only just begun but where do we begin 'Cause I find you here left for dead so could you show a sign o f life

For all I know we have only just begun I don't even know where to begin I find you here battered and just left for dead Could you show a sign of life

For all I know we have only just begun I don't even know where to begin I find you here battered and just left for dead Could you show a sign of life

Take this song of love and disfigure it in any way you can While you have your chance, cause I'll never sing of love again , again
