

The Lie

Of Mice & Men

The human race, what did we create?
We left our mark, mere repercussions of choices made.
This is the end, multiply and spread.
What did you expect when you rape our lands and dig our graves?
Force feeding chemicals into the mouths of all our youth,
You'll lie despise all of our lives, you're terrified of truth.
We see you pulling strings of puppets as we speak,
The perennial killing of anything that you see fit...

How could you do this to the ones that you're above?
How could you do this to the ones that you're above?
I've, had, enough!

We're desolate and no one cares,
As we march ahead towards the end,
And over the edge...

The countless souls that you were once responsible to feed,
Their hunger burns inside your bones red hot like molten heat.
Search low and high, and maybe you'll find,
Search low and high, and maybe you'll find...
You're not above me!
I've, had, enough!

We're desolate and no one cares,
As we march ahead towards the end.
We're desolate and no one cares,
As we march ahead towards the end,
And over the edge...

Listen!
Listen...
Why do some have it all,
And others they have none?
Why do some have it all,
And others they have none?
Why do some have it all,
And others they have none?
Why do some have it all,
And others they have nothing?

We've been lied to!
We've been lied to!