Sink the Seine

of Montreal

You're no different from the prints that crease the wires Or mosquitoes that now operate on her brain Thought that if I sank the seine I might find you I might find you

I'm no different from the claw they mic from the stair Or fake diamonds that are glued to eyes of plastic crows Thought that where the planters go, you might find me You might find me