

perhaps these hands held children's hands but what do they hold now? what love lay in this heart now silent empty, a broken vessel i've searched and searched from crown to toe but there's no trace of you innominate anatomical no history in histology no biography in biology i won't believe i can't believe that we're just a sum of parts