

Everything Explicit

Off Minor

a speaker spend, a listener left with regrets in his stead in a life of loss, silence can cost you more than you expect.

held tongues relate a bitter taste when prone to reminisce.

anamnestic, recipient absent, the circuit's dead

we live these linear lives unidirectional, towards an inevitable end

we must make everything explicit that's how we left it: unsaid.

now i'm at a loss for words
