

Neologist says:

"Whereas words once served a sentence now are sentenced,
serving our every agenda."

We pour poison
into the people's ear and yet they're still eager to tip their heads.

And should you dare search for what truth is

A twisted tongue will torture your thesis.

And should you say 'this is injustice'

A cunning mind will redefine what is is

This is not torture

This is not surveillance

This is not injustice

This is poetic license permitted by a nation's silence
