

Start Walking

Off With Their Heads

There are no words to describe the awful feeling I have inside
so I shut down
It's not the same as it was last time, it's so much worse
It's something that drives me out of my mind
It's a long way back to be anything that anyone could love

But I do what I do cause I think it's fun
It never helps, it turns me into my father's son
Here comes the light and it takes my hand
We'll go to a place where I can stand the skin I'm in
It's a long way back to be anything that anyone could love
Goodbye

There are no words to describe the awful feeling I have inside of me
Here comes the light and it takes my hand
It leads me where I never wanna feel
It's a long way back to be anything
It's a long way back to be anything that anyone could love
