

The Sun Doesn't Shine Anymore

Officium Triste

The sun doesn't shine anymore
Grey clouds cover the sky forevermore
And I miss you, your smile, your laughing face
And the twinkles of joy in your eyes

I know you are there
Yet you are so far away
A part of me has died
A part that chose not to stay

Wishful thoughts
In my mind
All the time
Thoughts of vengeance to ease my mind

I know you are there
Yet you are so far away
A part of me has died
A part that chose not to stay

Wishful thoughts
In my mind
All the time
The thought of holding you tight

In my arms
On a day
Under the blue sky
In the sunshine
Burning bright
On a day
In my arms
Under the blue sky

I fear this is a Utopian dream
Reality ain't the same no more
Real life equals horror
In real life I am game
Being hunted by reality
Reality which is unfair
And i'll always miss you
I am here and you are there