

You've Got to Give Me Room

Oleta Adams

I love J-mill so much They say each day brings something new well i guess that couldnt be mre true I guess, im speaking on the changes that i been goign through This morning as I brushed my hair this strange new feeling,
I can't compare Suddenly, I become aware
You got to give me room
I know how deep our love has been Since we were very young and now, the walls are closing in and those yester years are gone I know, that it been hard on you to understand my point of view how can i make it clear to you
you got to give me room
I confess
I can't say that I don't love you but this love I have for you grows weak,not strong If it was up to me our love would fortunately be on the virge of flying home yoy know how deep love is tingly i am more that what you thik I were I am a woman going through a phase I got to live ife before these precious years are through there are some goals i must,pursue
how can I make it clear to you
you got to give me room
You got to give me room (repeat to fade out)
