

Light the Way

Oliver

Dreams

All those silver dreams
Though destined to be broken
Still linger in my memories
Tarnished pages
Loves that have been and gone
Left saccharine and ashes
Scattered in the wind of silent indifference

Light the way
Light the way
Where do I belong?
Light the way
Light the way
Oh, where do I belong?

Years

Bittersweetened tears
Have left their burning traces
Of riches cloaked in kerosene
Expectation

Light the way
Light the way
Where do I belong?
Light the way
Light the way
Where do I belong?

Hopes for a time of peace
Left many brokenhearted
For causes that are lost
Are felt far more deeply

Light the way
Light the way
Where do we belong?
Light the way
Light the way
Oh, where do we belong?
Oh, where do we belong?