Angels in the Snow

Olivia Newton-John

When the twilight hour is sparkling And the city's all aglow Come with me my darling To the place we love to go When the frost's upon the window There's a tingle in your toes To the fields of virgin white For angels in the snow Lying on the frozen ground Arms go up and legs go down How it looks so perfect I don't know With the snowflakes all around It feels like heaven's reaching down To tell us here on earth we're not alone As the rooftops glisten And your cheeks turn to rose We will lie in wonder making angels in the snow With the snowflakes all around It feels like heaven's reaching down Telling us that we are not alone The silver moon is shining On the winter world below How she'll smile to see us Waving our hellos And as each season passes I will watch as your wings grow I'll always think of you this way My angel in the snow
