

I Need You Now

Olly Murs

I wonder how you kiss first thing in the morning
Before you go, go to work and you're smiling at me
Do you laugh at my jokes, even the ones that you've heard before?

There be times when everything's not perfect, when we fight
Do you say things like I hate you or it's all your fault
Or do you say nothing at all

I don't know who you are
Don't even know your name
I wish we could talk but I don't have a number to call
So hold your hand up if you hear me,
I've been searching but all that I found
Is everywhere that I go, is standing alone in the crowd

Maybe you're right here in front of me
Am I looking too hard, it's hard to see
Oh, give me a sign; I'm starting to wonder if you've lost your way

I've been right here waiting patiently,
Your lane should be right here next to me
I need you tonight, think of you all of the time

I don't know who you are
Don't even know your name
I wish we could talk but I don't have a number to call
So hold your hand up if you hear me,
I've been searching but all that I found
Is everywhere that I go, is standing alone in the crowd
And I need you now... I need you now

I wonder how you kiss, how you fight, how you laugh, how you smile
All of the time

I don't know who you are
Don't even know your name
I wish we could talk but I don't have a number to call
So hold your hand up if you hear me,
I've been searching but all that I found
Is everywhere that I go, is standing alone in the crowd
And I need you now... I need you now