Tomorrow

You know it's hard to be your friend I hate to let you down again We don't know how it's gonna end Cause now you know the secret I can't never mend

And this could be gone when we wake up, tomorrow Hearts are unchanged Time that is left, is borrowed And I can't take the way that you look at me Is there any place you and I could be? And we could go away It all could go away

This silence is deafening This ocean is without an end And there's something I know Something I know, we were meant to be Please listen to me, are you listening?

Cause this could be gone when we wake up, tomorrow Hearts are unchanged Time that is left, is borrowed And I can't take the way that you look at me Is there any place you and I could be? And we could go away It all could go away

Tomorrow, tomorrow

And this could be gone when we wake up, tomorrow Hearts are unchanged, time that is left is borrowed

And I can't take the way that you look at me Is there any place you and I could be? And we could go away This all could go away Beautiful..... Olly Murs
