

One word

Olympos Mons

Listen all
the king's been replaced abandoned is the throne he left in a haste

days of darkness
have come to our land
fate of men
is in warriors hands

one - one word
poisoning the air we breath
shakes the earth beneath our feet

hear me now
a word from the wise
the strongest of men
now have doubt in their eyes

to the bleak wind howl
through empty halls
you can hear it growl

shakes the ground beneath our feet it goes...

straight through the heart
an arrow of steel
our world falls apart
we're lost for all eternity
straight through the heart
in blood we must kneel
one must depart
another build a dynasty

listen here
you can trust no one they'll stab you in the back then they'll turn and run in the night

you search for a light
just a flickering flame in the darkest of nights

one - one word....

Save us - lead us from confusion save us - give us absolution save us - save us from ourselves and the darkness in our hearts and guide us on our way back into the light
