

Seven Seas

Olympos Mons

When the night time comes
A thousand miles away from home
It's easy to feel
Lost and alone

The sea turned so dark
You know it's time to see the sign
It's the end of the world
But you sail on

There's an ocean grave out there for all the brave
Tell me was it worth it son did the captain pay you well
Black demon guardians flying 'round the edge
Tell me was it worth it son when you enter the gates of hell

We sailed away across the seven seas
To find an answer to the mystery
We sailed away into eternity
We wrote our names in the book of memories

Into the black
Where the night never ends
The darkness cuts
Into your brain

The horizon breaks
Into cold wind and rain
Icy water
Fills your veins

There's an ocean grave out there for all the brave
Tell me was it worth it son did the captain pay you well
Black demon guardians flying 'round the edge
Tell me was it worth it son when you enter the gates of hell

We sailed away across the seven seas
To find an answer to the mystery
We sail away into eternity
We wrote our names in the book of memories
