Set the dials to overload
My head is ready to explode
I can't breathe the air you leave
Abandoned to your fantasy

Torn the children far away
Burned the house where they once played
This terrifying wall of pain
Is pouring down upon me once again

Silence screaming louder still
Torches burning will not kill
Burn the soul down to the core
Kick the ashes to the floor

Everything I tried to say
Everything I tried to do
Everything you begged of me
Nothing was ever enough for you

Now you know it hurts to be alone
Praying that your heart was made of stone
Trapped inside a head but not a home
You're tearing all the flesh away from bone

I can't live
I can't live with you and I can't live
I can't live without you
I can't live

I can't live with you and
I can't live without you now

I can't live
I can't live with you and I can't live
I can't live without you
I can't live

I can't live with you and
I can't live without you now
