The New Stone Age

This is the room, this is the wall This is the body I've been hoping for These are the words I've been longing just to say

So this is my goal, the end of my life This is the feeling that won't be amassed Oh my God, what have I done this time? Oh my God, what have I done this time?

The things that you find, the tug at the sky The feeling, the longing, the very repine Oh my God, what have we done this time? Oh my God, what have we done this time?
