

These Are the Days

Omi

You try to find her at the bottom of the bottle
But she's gone
Nothing you seem to do can heal the wounds
And start to right these wrongs

The only one you love has changed their mind
And said they're moving on
Some nights you start to feel
You'll never get back all the love you lost

These are the days you will remember
When you're standing at the very end
These are the days to make you stronger
If you ever have to fight again

Stand up and carry on
You know you'll never fall as hard again
Disturb the ashes of the one you lost
You know you did your best

You'll find a new direction
From the serpent running in your head
The pain you said you'd feel forever
You will learn how to forget

These are the days you will remember, you will remember
These are the days you will remember, you will remember
These are the days you will remember
When you're standing at the very end
These are the days to make you stronger
If you ever have to fight again

These are the days you will remember
When you're standing at the very end
These are the days to make you stronger
If you ever have to fight again
These are the days you will remember, you will remember
