

Everything Changes

One Less Reason

You found yourself in love again
I found myself in between where I could breathe
The last goodbye and your closest friend
You took the easy way out on the ones
Who stood their ground for you

And it's just not enough to say that you will try
When you got caught in a lie

And I'll still love you the same
If everything changes
And I just need you to know how
Everything's gonna be fine
And if you lose your way
I'll be right here waiting
I'll still love you the same
Even if everything changes

You never thought you were giving in
You traded what you want for what you need
From the day you start to your bitter end
You said "this just don't feel right when there's no one left to fight"

And it's just not enough to say that you will try
When you got caught in a lie

And I'll still love you the same
If everything changes
And I just need you to know how
Everything's gonna be fine
And if you lose your way
I'll be right here waiting
I'll still love you the same
Even if everything changes

If you know what you got then it can't be a lot
You're thinking now that you're sober
They're coming back for you

And I'll still love you the same
If everything changes
And I just need you to know how
Everything's gonna be fine
And if you lose your way
I'll be right here waiting
And I'll still love you the same
Even if everything...

I'll still love you the same
Everything changes
And I just need you to know
Everything's gonna be fine
And if you lose your way
I'll be right here waiting
I'll still love you the same
I'll still love you the same
