Pocket Change

One Less Reason

Nobody walks this road with me I tried so hard not to lose my way I lost my way I fall into your sea I tried so hard but I cannot drown I died with you today

It's getting hard to reminisce without you It's getting hard to push this pain deep down inside It's getting hard to reminisce without you

Time stood still today I put you in a padlocked box I wear around my neck And search for words to say 'Cause any time I cross my heart We'll never be the same

It's getting hard to reminisce without you It's getting hard to push this pain deep down inside It's getting hard to reminisce without you

It's getting hard to reminisce without you, without you It's getting hard to push this pain down deep inside No pocket change for me The sun don't rise on you And I wanted more and I feel this And I swing with all I have I won't let you die again I can't let you die again I won't let you die again...
