

Really Bad Analogy

One Less Reason

I wonder what you would do
Just to make them like you Just how far you'd go
That you could call those people friends
You lie right to my face and expect me to believe it
You said you would rather walk away
Than let me fall to pieces

'Cause I knew it would fail,
result in catastrophe
A major betrayal that would end in disaster
You're walking on water,
strolling along as I drown
Don't you see if you can hide this from me
Then you deserve to be free
And I can see it
in your eyes
And all I ever needed
I lost in your hurt feeling
And I can see it
in your eyes

And all the time that you would say You're tired of this place You're so sick of my face but I'm still waiting around on you And I know that you won't show Sometimes we all just need something to believe..
Something so much more than you Something so much more than me

'Cause I knew it would fail,
You're walking on water,
strolling along as I drown
hide this from me
Then you deserve to be free
And I can see it in your eyes
And all I ever needed
And I can see it in your eyes

I hope you're happy now

I was wrong when I blamed you for everything
You took your chance by yourself
I'm so proud of you
We waited so long and baby you were strong,

Never weak like me
And I thought
I would fade from the choices you made,
The footprints on my back, landed flat on my face
But today I'll try and smile

'Cause I knew it would fail,
A major betrayal that would end in disaster
You're walking on water,
strolling along as I drown
Don't you see if you can hide this from me
And I can see it in your eyes

I can see it in your eyes
