

Time To Talk

Open Hand

Anything for you is what you told me, the day i sat there with you. so i know nothing lasts forever, when will we realize it's gone? anything for you is what you told me, the day i sat there with you do we understand that words were not enough? you said to me that this would last forever. why did we rely on the time when i, i say i can't live without you. it's all over now, why you, you walked away, why you? you said that i, you said that i don't want to work it out, you know that i tried, i feel like sometimes we're just wasting time. why did we rely on the time when i, the time when i said i can't live without you. you said to me that things have changed. i look in your eyes, and i know that things will remain the same. you said that i, that i follow you here. when we, we've lost it all again.
