She's Got That Light

Orange Blue

Sometimes when she looks up it seems as If she's by herself Devil whispers in my ear I tried in vain to reach her world

There are many silent words raising heads while the tide still sounds And there are many weeping eyes hand in hand while the wind still pounds But the cycle never ends, the curtain falls burying my tears Though the carpet of gold seemed to be quite near

She's got that light around her eyes A gleaming star surrounds her mind She's got that smile imbued with soul I need her hand, cause she's my home

She's got that light around her eyes A gleaming star surrounds her mind She's got that smile imbued with soul I need your hand, cause you are my home

Wish you could hear the sound of my trembling faceless thoughts
Wish I could stop the fading of my dream with honest words.
The youth of your voice feels like the touch of falling snow Sitting in the dark hoping that future will grow

She's got that light around her eyes A gleaming star surrounds her mind She's got that smile imbued with soul I need her hand, cause she's my home

She's got that light around her eyes A gleaming star surrounds her mind She's got that smile imbued with soul I need your hand.

I know for sure I will send to your song
I would not leave you in times of glacial storm
Tell me where are you coming from ?
Youre my own true love in a foreign home

She's got that light around her eyes A gleaming star surrounds her mind She's got that smile imbued with soul I need her hand, cause she's my home

She's got that light around her eyes A gleaming star surrounds her mind She's got that smile imbued with soul I need your hand, I need your hand cause you are my home
