Never been here, how about you? You smile at my answer Given me the chance To be held and understood You leave me laughing without crying There's no use denying For many times I've tried Love has never felt as good Downtown or way up in the air When your heart's pounding You know that I'm aware You make it easy to watch the world with love You make it easy to let the past be done You make it easy How'd you do it, how'd you find me? How did I find you? How can this be true To be held and understood? Keep it coming, no one's running The lesson I'm learning Blessings are deserved By the trust that always could Downtown or way up in the air When your heart's pounding You know that I'm aware You make it easy to watch the world with love You make it easy to let the past be done You make it easy You make it easy to watch the world with love You make it easy to let the past be done You make it easy So watch me fall in love
