

Moods

Orden Ogan

For too long now I'm on my own... for too long now I await my fate

...And I see, what has to be done is yours

...And I also know, all that is left is breaking down again

...And I know that a butterfly can't soar inside a frame

...And so I think I should smash these things and let it live again

From your heart the sun will shine, the love will burn

Every eclipse meets it's end, and luck won't turn

Six black roses and a thousand tears to me

Just a little time and 99 years to be free

For too long now I'm on my own... for too long now I'm so alone

From your heart the light has gone, the darkness stays

Every life meets it's end, just remaining ashes burn

A thousand roses but just a few tears to me

Just a little time and just one step further to be free

And carry my heart down to the shore

Close my eyes for the future

It was to me, how could I fail?

And I carry my life down to the shore

A distorted picture in the river tells me what I can't stand to see