

Nothing Remains

Orden Ogan

Menacing black clouds
Raise misgivings
And loom over us
And the story begins
From the start
Nothing remains,
Nothing stays,
Nothing ever
Will change
Even death
Can not keep us apart
These... shades...
Even hide the sun
Leader follow leaders
Misdeeds can't be undone

All that man has built
Lands of faith
And guilt will fall
Cause nothing remains
Money, sin and lust
All this turns to dust
They fall
And nothing remains

A single black corbie
Still sings it's song
For me and lives...
The world is turning
So fast
A deafening silent cry
And I still wonder
Why we live
The world is
Turning so fast
Turned out to be dead
I'm burning
My love tonight
She's dying
In cleansing light
Oh... no... though we Knew it's part
Of the game
It seemed so mandatory
But who can take the Blame?

All that man has built
Lands of faith
And guilt will fall
Cause nothing remains
Money, sin and lust
All this turns to dust
They fall
And nothing remains

A last warm sense

Is dying into emptiness
It's just a follow up of things we left for dead

The world is turning
People in search
Of the light
Our homes are burning
As we stay the last
Falling star in the night
Fade with the first light of day

All you,
All men in the dark
You never saw
The light of day
You never were alive

All that man has built
Lands of faith
And guilt will fall
Cause nothing remains
Money, sin and lust
All this turns to dust
They fall
And nothing remains

Seven hundred
Years of light...
On the seventh day
They fall
Let the day that will
End their bloodline
Be the last for us all

The world is turning
People in search
Of the light
Our homes are burning
As we stay the last
Fade with the first light
Of day breaks
And nothing remains

In the light of day
