

The Black Heart

Orden Ogan

Now you all know
The words that echo back at me
One world, no future
We will bring them to their knees

The walls are falling
We'll never surrender
The walls are falling
The downfall of splendor

When there's nothing left to lose
And the sun won't shine
On one of us again
We'll throw away
Our shattered dreams
Burning all the bridges to the past

And there's nothing left to lose
And the sun won't shine
On one of us again
And we throw away
Our shattered dreams
Burning all the bridges to the past

Without lies or belief
Without need to conceive
Without chance to restart
We're sharing the black heart

Now they are gone
No words that echo back at me
One world - no future
It brings us all to our knees

And we see now nothing's sacred
As the fire takes it all
To this day our lives are wasted
No one cares as mankind falls