Ending Of A Song

Orleans

I hope I never ever love anyone this much again I can't take it anymore, I've been hurt before Never ever quite like this time

What will become of me when you're no longer here If I can't stop loving you, what am I to do You'll be free but where will I be

Now that I'm used to love, how can I stand alone Now that love has come and gone, like the ending of a song A song my lonely heart keeps singing

Where do I go from here, will I get over you

If so, next time I'll be smart, I'll know before I start

A heart that don't care, don't get broken

I hope I never ever love anyone this much again Never ever, never again Never again
