

Is It Safe?

Our Lady Peace

Time can't fix it fast enough, so we won't notice what it was that went wrong I saw something there much too familiar a butterfly with a broken wing she's fallen under, she's past the end, communication is down again the scars have healed but they're back again we've got to believe this man must bend because if you could you'd try and destroy her and there we would be with nothing at all

Is it safe to be a man when your tired and lonely only the confident know where to stand

Is it safe to be man when the world is loaded with thousands that can't figure out just what they did
time can't fix it fast enough, so we won't measure just how far below you kept pushing her you'll have to pay back all of the years that you stole she's walking backwards, she's spun around her ears are ringing loud, how does it feel, does it make you mad? she's on her knees please understand how obvious it is that this man must bend
