

Supersatellite

Our Lady Peace

I've read the bible, i've read Dylan, i'm reading people now because it is much more chilling i sit on a satellite with the stars made of gold there's life through that hollow lens

I know supersatellite
i watch the traffic,
i find the seeds

There's one man in particular who's not what he seems i can't focus in on the lies in his head he's convinced that his blood is blue but it's red
supersatellite

Nothing dazzles me,
i am in his dreams
nothing is shocking,
transparent human being