

Same Old War

Our Last Night

I've been fighting the same old war,
against a disease,
without a cure!
Been holding on for so long!
For so long! For so long!

I've been wishing upon a star,
if my universe falls apart!
I feel so far from the sky,
as my dreams, are going by!
And they say, it's a battle that can't be won!

We need our knives, we need our guns!

Should I run away, and change my name?
Or should I stay and fight through the night?

And never close my eyes?
I'll never close my eyes!

I've come too far, to go back now,
turn into a face in the crowd!
Been on this road, for so long!
For so long... For so long!

Convinced there is no way out,
my world is turned upside down!
My sense of direction's been gone,
for so long! For so long...

And they say, it's a battle that can't be won!

We need our knives, we need our guns!

Should I run away, and change my name?
Or should I stay and fight through the night?

And never close my eyes?
I'll never close my eyes!

Stay strong, keep moving,
can't let the darkness blind us!
Carry on, we'll be the ones,
that pull the stars down to us!

Stay strong, keep moving,
can't let the darkness blind us!
Carry on, we'll be the ones,
that pull the stars down to us!

Should I run away, and change my name?
Or should I stay and fight through the night?

And never close my eyes?
I'll never close my eyes!
