

Blown Away

Overkill

Blow it away
Blow it away
Blow it away
Blow it away
When it extends itself
To the point of breaking
And deep inside you know
Your demon's waking
In color red and redder
Break tomorrow
As mother turns her back
In broken sorrow
Blow it away
When you are all that's left
Blow it away
When you are all that's left
Embrace your enemies, embrace your fear
Embrace what you disobey
Kill what complicates you, hold it near
Blow it away
Complicated, overrated leaning
On the reason of one
In quiet desperation you are clinging
To the safety of the gun
In light the dark becomes
Illuminated fear
In white the black becomes
What you are holding near
And deep inside your Guts are turning
Churning to the tune
What you've become
Embrace your enemies, embrace your fear
Embrace what you disobey
Kill what complicates you, hold it near
Blow it away