

Blue Eyes

Paddy and the Rats

As I walk on the road of life, sometimes I sway
I fall down then get up but try to stay on my way
Your footprints track me through mountains
All of these years

Sometimes I let my drunken heart
Burns by the flame
But I remembered from past lifes
It's not the same
Just to get you
I'll wait till the end of the world

I feel I loved you in numberless lifetimes
So I will wait until this body's ash
I know we met each other life after life
So I'll begin my finds
For you again

And again I confess you again
I'll do it again and again
To get where you are so
So don't walk away
I don't want you walk away
Ooooh, ooooooh

After these thousands of dreams we are awoken
After these thousands of life we are born again
This is not the end
It's just a new beginning

Some things are bound in life by higher power
The most what you can do is only believe
You were my only light in the darkest hour
So I take you my vow
I don't let you now

And again I confess you again
I'll do it again and again
To get where you are so
So don't walk away
I don't want you walk away
Ooooh, ooooooh

I remember the shine of your blue eyes
I have always seen those in my past lifes
Universe always shows us the way
So take me far away
Oh, On my way

And again I confess you again
I'll do it again and again
To get where you are so
So don't walk away
I don't want you walk away
Ooooh, ooooooh