

Becoming One

Pale Forest

Patterns lull me in to sleep still I can not reach your keep My ship lies still upon the sea and yet no harbour can I see

Sunsweet voices call my name sweeter pictures calm my shame Realm of sanctum how I long to hear your angels sing my song

Ripples on the mirrorlake
dewdrops where the fairies make Life a part of heavens sake spring in every breath you take

Skin against my pounding chest in your arms I'll make my nest Once I've touched you I may rest filled with piece and newborn zest

Ripples on the mirrorlake
dewdrops where the fairies make
Life a part of heavens sake
spring in every breath you take