

If I say I love you will you stay or want ot wither, fade away If I show you the sun and the night of my past will a smile cross your face but just vanish too fast

In the greener field she lies the superior being with emerald eyes
Red strand of hair and straw entwined
She's surrounded by utopia but unable to find

A reason to keep those flaming eyes burning
for darkness blurs her yearning
She feels the tides have stopped their turning
and beauty only lives in death

I hear you singing in my dreams awaken to your silent screams I see you dancing on the line of sorrow versus joy divine

In the greener field she lies
the superior being with emerald eyes
Red strand of hair and straw entwined
She's surrounded by utopia
but unable to find

A reason to keep those flaming eyes burning
for darkness blurs her yearning
She feels the tides have stopped their turning
and beauty only lives in death