

A Disasterpiece

Palisades

I can feel your heart as it's racing
It's me rearranging
And all the times that you said you'd stay with me
I should've known that you'd just get up and leave

I kept myself bound to a cancer that only ate up my soul and all the years in that I gave her only did singe my skin with holes cigarette burns to my brain are the last impression that you gave and it's a shame that your only claim to fame is that you're listed with my name

I can feel your heart as it's racing
It's me rearranging
I should've known that you'd just get up and leave
So now it's me that I'm changing, I'm not going to take it C'mon and taste this, go on get wasted You're using me so I'll burn away

The truth I found out keeps me up all night, it's not right, it's not right.
Go back where you belong
So get back on your knees Get back on your knees like you've always done

So we can never be a couple hun, Fuck love, all I've got for you is two fingers pointed up!
