

Bus Talk

Paolo Nutini

Hey, come on in. Here, sit down, make yourself comfortable.

I was going to work the other morning and these two chicks were on the bus and they were running off their mouths about everybody's business. Yeah, you know and all, talk, talk, talk.

Well then they were talking about my business so I listened. Your name and my name came up. Yeah, they were saying things like, "Yeah, Marge ain't got a man up tight no more. He's been tipping up town. And Marilyn's gonna take him from her if she don't look out." Who's Marilyn? I don't know who she is. You tell me who she is. Then I'll know what they're talking about.

Give it up, give it up, give it up, give it up.
